ABOUT THE NEW YORK RED BULLS

The New York Red Bulls are one of 20 teams that comprise the top-flight professional league in the United States – Major League Soccer. On the field, the team is led by 2015 MLS Coach of the Year Jesse Marsch, captain Dax McCarty, 2014 Golden Boot Winner Bradley Wright-Phillips, and 2015 MLS Goalkeeper of the Year Luis Robles.

Last season, the Red Bulls won the Supporters' Shield for the second time in three seasons with an 18-10-6 record and league-best +19 goal differential. New York reached the MLS Eastern Conference Championship for the second consecutive season, and has now qualified for the playoffs for six straight seasons, and in 12 of the past 13 years. In 2015, the Red Bulls set new franchise records for wins (18), home wins (12) and points (60), and led the league with 62 goals scored.

ABOUT RED BULL ARENA

Red Bull Arena is the benchmark in the North American soccer stadium landscape and sets the standard for other venues of its kind across the continent. The 25,000-seat state-of-the-art facility located in Harrison, New Jersey is the home of the New York Red Bulls of Major League Soccer (MLS) and opened in March 2010, when the Red Bulls defeated Brazilian side, Santos FC, 3-1.

Since then, Red Bull Arena has hosted a number of top club and international squads including the U.S. Men's and Women's National Teams, Ecuador, Colombia, Czech Republic, Turkey, Manchester City (England) and Juventus (Italy). The arena is structured to create a distinct soccer atmosphere as fans in the front row are just 21 feet from the touchlines. Its dynamic roof is a curving structure that wraps the entire arena in an elegant metal shell to create an architectural statement of power and elegance.

Red Bull Arena's roof extends 120 feet from the last seat to just over the field's touchlines, with 60 feet of the roof being translucent to let in natural light. The stadium also has a unique, one-of-a-kind media seating section with over 100 seats located directly behind the player bench area in the lower bowl. Media members have access to the media work room, photo room, and press conference room. The team locker rooms open to the media 15 minutes after the conclusion of every MLS match.

RED BULL TRAINING FACILITY

On most days, the Red Bulls practice at the Red Bulls Training Facility located in Hanover, N.J., about 15 miles from Red Bull Arena. Red Bulls players and coaches are available to members of the media after training. To confirm location and time of a particular training session, or for more information, please contact the Red Bulls Communications staff in advance.

NEW YORK RED BULLS

ALI CURTIS
SPORTING DIRECTOR

ALI CURTIS was named the Red Bulls Sporting Director on December 23, 2014, succeeding Andy Roxburgh.

Curtis is responsible for all soccer activities at the club, including player acquisition and scouting, oversight of the coaching staff, technical staff and youth development as well as management of the soccer operations budget and salary cap.

In his first season, Curtis put together a Red Bulls coaching staff and roster that won the 2015 Supporters' Shield with an 18-10-6 record and league-best +19 goal differential. The 18 regular seasons wins, along with 12 wins at home and 60 points earned, set new franchise records.

In one of his first moves as Sporting Director, Curtis orchestrated a complex deal with the Montreal Impact that saw New York acquire midfielder Felipe, who started all 34 regular season matches for New York, and the top spot in the MLS allocation rankings, which the club used to complete the transfer of U.S. international Sacha Kljestan the following day. Kljestan proved to be the driving force behind New York's attack, finishing the 2015 season with eight goals and 14 assists, tying a club record for most assists in an MLS season.

Before joining the Red Bulls, Curtis spent seven seasons working for Major League Soccer, as part of the Player Relations and Competition Department and as the Special Assistant to the Office of the Commissioner.

Most recently, Curtis was the Senior Director of Player Relations and Competition where his key responsibilities included overseeing MLS club budgets, negotiating over 200 player contracts per year, leading key areas of renegotiation of the current Collective Bargaining Agreement and leading the MLS Player Development Committee.

Curtis also supervised the MLS Homegrown Player Program, which has resulted in 20-40 signings per year and was responsible for the league-to-league strategic partnership that led to the MLS/USL PRO Club affiliations.

Along with his MLS experience, Curtis worked as an analyst for JP Morgan Chase Private Bank from 2004-2007 in Chicago and Los Angeles.

A former MLS player himself, Curtis was the second overall pick in the 2001 MLS SuperDraft by the Tampa Bay Mutiny. The forward spent four seasons in MLS with the Mutiny, D.C. United and FC Dallas (formerly the Dallas Burn). In four seasons, Curtis made 65 total appearances (35 starts) while scoring nine goals and adding eight assists.

Curtis is a graduate of Duke University where he was a standout college player and earned the 1999 Hermann and the 2000 MAC Award as the nation's best player. The awards have since been combined into the MAC Hermann award.

JESSE MARSCH
HEAD COACH

JESSE MARSCH was named the 15th coach in New York franchise history on January 7, 2015. In his first season at the helm, Marsch was named MLS Coach of the Year for leading the Red Bulls to the 2015 Supporters' Shield, and the best regular season in franchise history.

New York posted an 18-10-6 record, tied for best overall with FC Dallas, and a league-best +19 goal differential. The 18 wins set a new franchise record, as did 12 wins at home, and 60 points earned. Marsch's side led MLS in scoring in 2015 with 62 goals, and was only shut out twice during the regular season. The Red Bulls also allowed the fewest goals in the Eastern Conference.

Marsch opened his tenure with a seven-game unbeaten streak, the longest in MLS that season. New York spent the entire season at or near the top of the Eastern Conference standings, and went 14-5-1 over the last 20 games on the run to the Supporters' Shield.

Marsch's side was also tough on the road, posting the second-most road wins in MLS with a 6-7-4 record, scoring the most road goals (27) and finishing as the only team in MLS with a positive road goal differential.

Before joining the Red Bulls, Marsch was the head coach of the Montreal Impact during the club's inaugural season in 2012. Marsch led the Impact to 12 wins in the club's first season, the most wins by an expansion club since 1998, when the Chicago Fire, with Marsch and current assistant Chris Armas in the midfield, took the league by storm, winning the 1998 MLS Cup and 1998 U.S. Open Cup.

Marsch also has experience coaching with US Men's National Team, serving as Bob Bradley's assistant for the 2010 FIFA World Cup and the 2011 Gold Cup. The USMNT advanced to the knockout round in the 2010 FIFA World Cup and to the tournament final in the 2011 Gold Cup.

The Racine, Wisconsin native enjoyed an impressive playing career as well, winning three MLS Cups and four US Open Cup Championships during 14 years in the league with D.C. United, Chicago Fire and Chivas USA. Marsch, an MLS original, made 321 appearances in 14 seasons, scoring 31 goals and 40 assists.

He remains among the all-time leaders in Chicago Fire history, sixth all-time in appearances (200), and starts (182), and minutes played (16,300). His 19 goals for the Fire are the ninth most in club history, and his 29 assists rank seventh amongst all Chicago players.

During his playing days, Marsch played for four Coaches of the Year in Bruce Arena (1997 D.C. United), Bob Bradley (1998 Chicago Fire), Dave Sarachan (2003 Chicago Fire) and Preki (2007 Chivas USA).

Along with a successful career in MLS, Marsch earned two Caps with the U.S. Men's National Team. In college, Marsch was a two-year captain at Princeton University, a two-time first team All-Ivy member and a first team All-American in 1995. Marsch most recently served as a volunteer assistant coach at his alma mater, helping the Tigers to a 2014 Ivy League Championship.

DENIS HAMLETT
ASSISTANT COACH

DENIS HAMLETT, a former MLS player and coach, was named First Assistant by Jesse Marsch at the start of the 2015 MLS preseason.

Hamlett was born in Puerto Limon, Costa Rica, and grew up in Maryland. He played college soccer at George Mason University before joining the Fort Lauderdale Strikers of the American Soccer League in 1992.

Hamlett played in both the American Soccer League, the NPSL and Continental Indoor Soccer League before being selected in the second round of the inaugural MLS draft in 1996 by the Colorado Rapids. The defender appeared in 31 games for Colorado before retiring at the end of the 1996 season.

Hamlett transitioned to coaching in 1997, earning his coaching license from U.S. Soccer and joining the Chicago Fire staff as an assistant prior to the 1998 season, the same year Marsch joined the Fire from D.C. United. He was named first assistant in Chicago in 2001, and served as interim head coach briefly in 2007, and was named head man for the 2008 season.

Under Hamlett, the Fire reached two straight MLS Eastern Conference Finals, as well as the 2009 SuperLiga Final.

Hamlett has also done coaching stints with the Vancouver Whitecaps, and was part of Marsch's staff in Montreal in 2012.

CHRIS ARMAS
ASSISTANT COACH

CHRIS ARMAS joined the New York Red Bulls coaching staff ahead of the 2015 season, reuniting with former teammate Jesse Marsch and coach Denis Hamlett.

Armas, a Brooklyn native, was drafted by the Los Angeles Galaxy in the inaugural MLS draft in 1996 after two professional seasons with the Long Island Rough Riders of the USISL.

After two seasons with the Galaxy, Armas was traded to the Chicago Fire ahead of their inaugural 1998 campaign, the same offseason the club acquired Marsch. Armas played a large role in the Fire's storied run to the 1998 MLS Cup and U.S. Open Cup double in their first season. Armas was named to the MLS Best XI for four straight seasons from 1998 through 2001 before seeing his streak broken by an ACL injury that caused him to miss much of the 2002 campaign. He bounced back in 2003, being named MLS Comeback Player of the Year and MLS Best XI for the fifth time.

Armas is one of just four players to earn Best XI distinction five times, second only to Landon Donovan's seven Best XI selections.

Armas played in 264 MLS regular season games, 260 of which were starts, recording 12 goals and 48 assists. Appearing in 37 playoff games, Armas found a bulk of his success with Marsch at the Fire, winning four Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup titles and an MLS Supporter's Shield in addition to the 1998 MLS Cup. Captaining the side from 2003-2007, he was named an MLS All-Star six times and was voted team MVP in 2003.

He was also named U.S. Soccer's Male Athlete of the Year in 2000. After the Fire's double-winning campaign in 1998 Armas became a regular for the U.S. Men's National Team, cracking the lineup just after the 1998 World Cup. He was part of the FIFA Gold Cup squads in 2002 and 2005, and was initially named to the 23-man roster for the 2002 World Cup in Japan before suffering an injury in a friendly leading up to the tournament. In all, Armas earned 66 caps for the United States.

Armas retired at the end of the 2007 season after 12 years in MLS. He served the following season as an assistant coach for the Fire under current Red Bulls assistant Denis Hamlett. Since then, he has returned to the New York area with his family, most recently serving as head coach of the women's varsity team at Adelphi University on Long Island. Armas led the program to back-to-back conference title game appearances in the NE-10, and reached the ECAC Championship in 2014.

PRESTON BURPO
GOALKEEPERS COACH

PRESTON BURPO joined the New York Red Bulls staff ahead of the 2016 MLS season. Burpo, a former MLS goalkeeper, previously coached on Jesse Marsch's staff with the Montreal Impact in 2012, and with D.C. United for the 2013 and 2014 seasons.

A native of Bethesda, Md., Burpo started his playing career with USISL teams in 1995 and had a stint with Jamaican club Harbour View FC before signing with Seattle Sounders FC, then in the United Soccer League, in 1997. Burpo played nine seasons with Seattle before moving to MLS side Chivas USA in 2006, where he was a teammate of both Marsch and current Red Bulls midfielder Sacha Kljestan.

In all, Burpo made 59 career appearances in MLS, 22 with Chivas USA before stretches with the Colorado Rapids and New England Revolution.

After spending one season as a scout with the U.S. Soccer Federation, Burpo joined Marsch's staff ahead of the Montreal Impact's inaugural season in 2012. He subsequently spent two seasons as the goalkeeper coach with D.C., overseeing Bill Hamid's MLS Goalkeeper of the Year season in 2014.

Prior to his professional career, Burpo graduated from Southern New Hampshire University, where he played from 1991 – 1994, and remains eighth on the school's career shutout leaders list, with 17.

NEW YORK RED BULLS II

On January 21, 2015, the New York Red Bulls announced that the club successfully acquired the rights to a United Soccer League (USL) franchise. An essential stepping stone in the development of the modern American soccer player, the inception of a USL team for the Red Bulls has allowed for academy players, USL players, draft picks and other MLS loaned players to play meaningful, competitive and professional games in working to earn a spot on the First Team.

Less than a month later, New York Red Bulls II was born. The Red Bulls unveiled NYRB II's name and logo on Feb. 9, 2015, and made Tyler Adams the club's first ever signing in March. The 16-year-old Red Bulls Academy product was first introduced to the organization through the Red Bulls Regional Development School (RDS) at the age of 10 and is the first player to graduate the RDS and progress all the way through the Red Bulls academy system to a professional contract. Following the conclusion of the 2015 USL season, he became a member of the First Team.

Following open tryouts and preseason, Red Bulls II announced its first roster ahead of its inaugural USL match which consisted of 11 USL players, four MLS loans, and five Red Bulls academy players who each signed a USL agreement for academy players, allowing them to play for NYRB II while preserving their amateur status. In total, 12 of the 20 players listed on the roster for the first game were Red Bulls academy products.

The team played its first match on March 28 at Red Bull Arena against Rochester Rhinos. The young Red Bulls II team played to a scoreless draw, 0-0. In the next game, New York welcomed Toronto FC II. MLS loan Anatole Abang scored the first goal in club history, thanks to an assist from Sean Davis, and Red Bulls II earned its first ever victory, 4-1.

The club's most memorable victory came on July 22, when the New York Red Bulls hosted and defeated the defending English Premier League champion Chelsea FC in the 2015 International Champions Cup, 4-2. Red Bulls head coach Jesse Marsch provided 15 players, all regular Red Bulls II starters, their First Team debuts against Chelsea.

After going into halftime trailing the English champions, 1-0, Red Bulls Academy product Franklin Castellanos leveled the score in the 51st minute. Shortly afterwards, Tyler Adams scored his first professional goal to put New York ahead in the 69th minute. Four minutes later, Sean Davis added a third. Although Chelsea pulled one back, the Red Bulls proved it was their night and Davis answered with the fourth and final goal in the 77th minute to earn New York a victory that made global headlines.

Red Bulls II never looked back since, finishing the season strong and earning the club's first ever USL Playoffs berth. The club finished its inaugural regular season 12-10-6, in fourth place of the Eastern Conference. NYRB II were also the fourth-highest scoring team in the league.

On Sept. 26, NYRB II hosted and won its first postseason match at Red Bull Arena against Pittsburgh Riverhounds in overtime of the Eastern Conference Quarterfinals, 4-2. In the first overtime session, the Riverhounds took a 2-1 lead with a goal in the 96th minute, but captain Karl Ouimette leveled the match in the 102nd minute to keep New York's playoff hopes alive. In the second overtime, Ouimette snatched another goal in the 115th minute, the game-winner, and Daniel Bedoya buried NYRB II's fourth goal to finish the game.

Red Bulls II's playoff run ended in the Eastern Conference Semifinals against Rochester Rhinos, the eventual 2015 USL champions, in an impressive first season for the young team.

"It's been kind of one of the shining stars of the year in terms of USL and that player development platform," Sporting Director Ali Curtis said. "That's been unbelievable for us, it really has helped guys like Tyler Adams and Sean Davis and [Anatole] Abang like you mentioned, it's helped even the young player in Derrick Etienne and the season that he had at [University of Virginia] and you know developing through our pyramid so it's been fantastic for those guys."

"They get meaningful training opportunities as well as meaningful minutes against real professionals in games that count and it's expedited their development so if you looked at the first half of the season and where guys were playing from the USL perspective and Sean Davis and Abang and those guys, it's helped their development as soccer players and contributing to our team at the MLS level."

In 2016, five USL players - Stefano Bonomo, Dan Metzger, Devon Williams, Konrad Plewa and Rafael Diaz - will be returning to the squad as head coach John Wolyniec and his technical staff looks to build upon a successful first season in USL.

"We'll get better at that platform, we'll get more sophisticated, that team will get stronger, we'll look to add more local players to that team so it's very exciting," Curtis said. "I think the future is bright particularly because as an organization we're able to make that investment, which is fantastic by the way, so it's exciting."
